

Dear Bubby and Zaidy,

ד"ר

Guess what? After two years of not having an in-person Grandparent Day, we finally will have one at school on Friday, May 13th.

I can't wait to see you at my school! I want to introduce you to my friends and my amazing teachers, principals, rabbeim, and moros. They've heard all about you, and now they finally get to meet you. (I talk a lot about you guys 😊)

I learn so much in school - math, science, reading, history, and, of course, to love learning Torah and doing mitzvos. For the past few weeks, we've been getting ready for Pesach. I'm so proud of my hagaddah, and I'm excited to be at the seder.

But my teachers said that the seder isn't just a chance for me to show off what I learned. It's the most important night for me to learn from the older generations, like my parents and you.

But I don't have to wait for the seder to do that! I learn from you all the time. I see how to be a proud and confident person, how to get involved in the community, how to do chessed, how to be kind, and how to give tzedakah.

I hope you can make it on May 13th and that I can share the morning with you at school. You'll love it! I have to warn you that there will probably be some speeches. But there's always recess, and then you'll see the amazing new playground that the school built for us this past fall!

Miss you tons! Xoxoxoxoxo

Your favorite grandchild (Don't tell the other kids that I know!)

PS - The Torah School is the best school ever, and the teachers make learning so much fun. Can you help me continue to learn by please supporting the school? You can even donate in my honor!
Thanks!
